ABSTRACT

This report provides a statistical description of the 17,329 offenders committed by the courts to Massachusetts county facilities (jails or houses of correction) during 1994. The report presents information on institution committed to, court committed from, month of commitment, offense, sentence length, sentence type, age, sex, race, marital status, education, place of birth and residence.

Some highlights of the statistics presented in this report are:

- ❖ In 1994 there were 17,329 commitments to county facilities. This represents an increase of 8 percent over the 15,978 commitments in 1993.
- ❖ Nineteen percent were committed for offenses against the person, 2 percent for sex offenses, 24 percent for property offenses, 17 percent for drug offenses, 11 percent for Operating Under the Influence of alcohol (O.U.I.), 14 percent for motor vehicle and 13 percent for other offenses.
- ❖ The most common offenses for which offenders were committed were motor vehicle violations (14 percent), O.U.I. (11 percent), and unarmed assault (11 percent).
- ❖ The median sentence length was six months. Eight percent were committed in lieu of payment of a fine. One percent were committed for weekend sentences.
- ❖ The median age of offenders committed to county facilities was 28 years.
- ❖ Sixty percent of the commitments were Caucasian, 21 percent were African American, 17 percent were Hispanic, and one percent were other races.
- ❖ The median educational level was 12th grade.
- ❖ Seventy-four percent of the offenders were single, 14 percent were married and 12 percent were separated, divorced or widowed.
- ❖ Sixty-six percent were born in Massachusetts, 19 percent were born in other states, 9 percent were born in U.S. territories, and 6 percent were foreign-born.

INTRODUCTION

This report provides a statistical description of offenders committed to Massachusetts county facilities (jails and houses of correction) during 1994. Included in this report is information about the county facilities and their operating expenditures. Offenders are described in terms of commitment institution, month of commitment, committing court, offense, sentence length, sentence type (week-end and jail sentences), sex, age, race, marital status, education, place of birth, and residence. Trends in court commitments to the county correctional system over the past decade are also presented. The statistical tables were derived from information submitted by each county facility to the Research and Planning Division of the Department of Correction (DOC) and were produced on the DOC's VAX Computer System.

When referring to the statistical tables, the reader should note the following: (1) the left number in each cell represents the number of offenders that fall into the corresponding category in that row of the table; and (2) the right number in each cell (the number contained in parentheses) is the percent distribution of the number of offenders that fall into each category (column percents). In the narrative, percentages reflect only those cases where data were available. Cases with missing data were excluded. For example, on page ten, Month of Commitment is presented and the following types of information can be obtained:

(1) The specific months are labeled and presented vertically;

(2) Of the 17,329 offenders committed during 1994, nine percent (N=1,517) were committed in January.

The author would like to acknowledge the assistance of Collette McKoy and Heather Baird in the preparation of this report.

COUNTY FACILITIES IN MASSACHUSETTS

There are fourteen counties in Massachusetts. All counties except for Nantucket County have at least one county correctional facility administered by the county sheriff.

These facilities usually contain a jail, for pre-trial detainees, and a house of correction, for sentenced inmates. The location and administrators of all facilities are shown in Appendix I. Suffolk County has a separate facility for its jail (Nashua Street) and its house of correction (South Bay). Middlesex County has two facilities, a combined jail and house of correction in Billerica and a jail in Cambridge. Four counties have specialized facilities for sentenced offenders: Essex County has the Correctional Alternative Center (CAC) in Lawrence; Hampden County has the Western Massachusetts Correctional Alcohol Center (WMCAC) facility in Springfield; Bristol County has the Eastern Massachusetts Correctional Alcohol Center (EMCAC); and Norfolk County has the Braintree Alternative Center. Individuals are not committed directly to these four facilities, but can be transferred to them from a house of correction or a state correctional facility.

The operating expenditures for each county facility, for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1994, are shown in Appendix II. These include expenses for salaries, food, utilities and other expenses.

The population in county correctional facilities for the period January 1, 1994 to December 31, 1994 is shown in Appendix III. This includes the average daily population (ADP), beginning and ending population, design capacity, and average daily population divided by design capacity, which is an indicator of facility utilization.

COMMITMENTS TO COUNTY CORRECTIONAL FACILITIES, 1990 TO 1994

During 1994 there were 17,329 commitments to county facilities. This is an 8 percent (N=1,351) increase from the 15,978 commitments in 1993 and a 26 percent increase from the 13,721 commitments in 1990. The largest increase in commitments during this five year span occurred between 1993 and 1994. Commitments to county facilities for the last five years are shown in Figure 1.

Table 1 shows selected characteristics of county commitments during the five year period 1990 to 1994. During this period, the number of commitments increased by 26 percent or 3,608 from 13,721 in 1989 to 17,329 in 1994. The largest increases in commitments by county from 1990 to 1994 occurred in Bristol (92%), Suffolk (76%), and Hampden (37%). Three counties experienced decreases in commitments over the period: Dukes (-38%), Plymouth (-12%), and Hampshire (-8%).

The offenses for which individuals were committed changed over the last five years. Between 1990 and 1994, increases occurred for all offense categories except OUI, which showed a decrease of 26 percent (N=668). During the 1990 to 1994 period, commitments for person offenses increased by 102 percent (N=1,691); commitments for drug offenses increased 52 percent (N=1,000); commitments for sex offenses increased by 34 percent (N=77); commitments for motor vehicle offenses increased by 29 percent (N=541); commitments for other offenses increased by 23 percent (N=435); and commitments for property offenses increased by 15 percent (N=532).

Sentence Length of County Commitments,
1990 and 1994

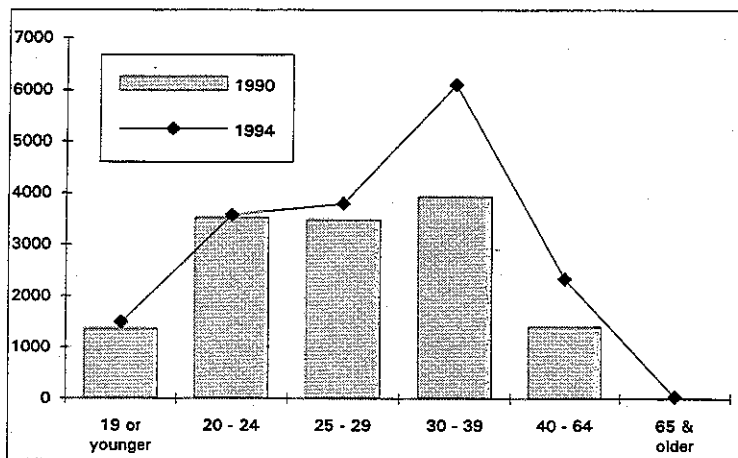

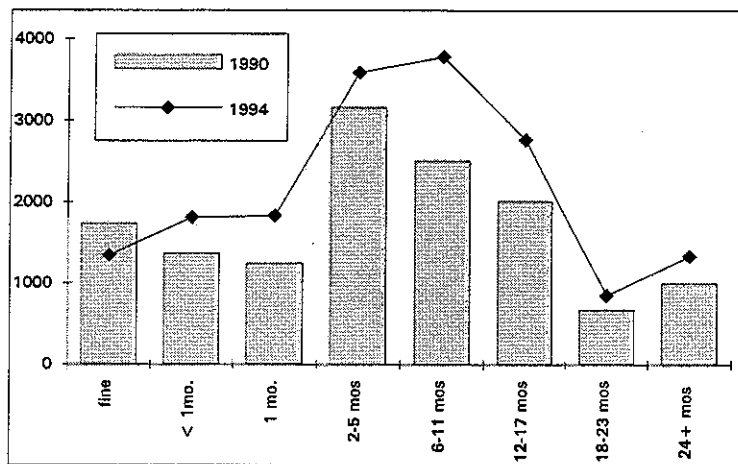

Figure 3.
Age Distribution of County Commitments,
1990 and 1994

Figure 2 shows that sentence lengths have increased over the past five years. In 1990, 32 percent of commitments received a sentence of one month or less (including fines); and in 1994, 29 percent of commitments had a sentence of one month or less. In 1990, 45 percent of commitments received a sentence of six months or more; and in 1994, 50 percent of commitments received a sentence of six months or more.

Figure 3 reveals that the age of offenders at commitment also increased over the last five years. In 1990, 36 percent of the commitments were 24 years or younger and 64 percent were 25 years or older. In 1994, 29 percent of the commitments were 24 years or younger and 71 percent were 25 years or older.

The period 1990 to 1994 shows a large increase in the number of female county commitments from 119 in 1990 to 747 in 1994; an increase of 628 females or 528%. County commitments for males increased by 2,980 offenders or 22% during the same period. At the beginning of the period females comprised 1 percent of the total commitments; in 1994, they comprised 4% of the commitments.

A DESCRIPTION OF 1994 COMMITMENTS

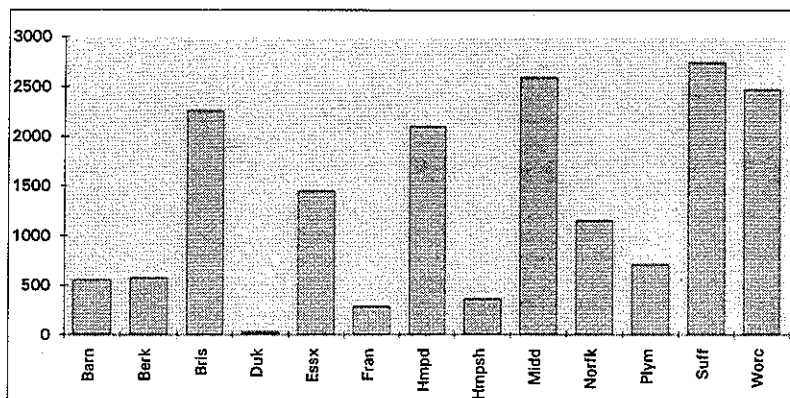

In this section the 17,329 offenders committed to county facilities during 1994 are described in more detail. Present offense and sentence information are followed by data summarizing the personal background characteristics of the county commitments.

Present Offense Characteristics

Committing Institution.

Figure 4 shows the number of commitments ranging from a low of 33 in Dukes County to a high of 2,747 in Suffolk County. Seven of the fourteen counties received more than 1,000 commitments in 1994: Suffolk (N=2,747), Middlesex (N=2,599), Worcester (N=2,478) Bristol (N=2,264),

Figure 4.
1994 Commitments
by County

Hampden (N=2,104), Essex (N=1,450), and Norfolk (N=1,158). These seven counties accounted for 85 percent of all county commitments in 1994.

Committing Court.

Most offenders committed to county facilities are sentenced by the lower courts of the county to which they are committed. Ninety-five percent of the commitments were from lower courts and 5 percent were from superior courts.

Present Offense.

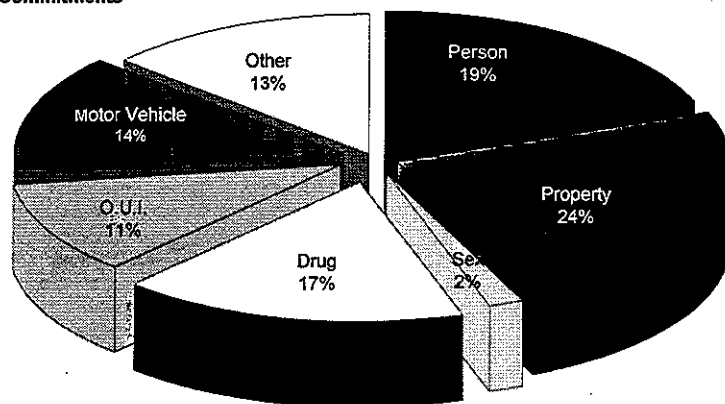

Most offenders committed to county facilities were sentenced for non-violent offenses (79 percent); 21 percent were committed for violent offenses (those against the person or sex offenses).

Nineteen percent of the commitments were for person offenses. Most of these were for unarmed assault (assault or assault and battery) (N=1,897) or armed assault (assault and battery with a dangerous weapon or assault with a dangerous weapon) (N=1,089). There were 46 commitments for vehicular homicide.

Two percent of the commitments were for sex offenses (N=304) including 42 for rape of an adult or child, 179 for assault with intent to rape (which includes assault with intent to rape of a minor), and 83 for other sex offenses (e.g., unnatural acts, lewdness, indecent exposure and sexual misconduct). Of the 221 commitments for rape and sexual assault, 118 involved minors as victims and 103 involved adult victims.

Twenty-four percent of all commitments were for property offenses. The most common property offenses were: burglary (N=1,292), larceny (N=864), receiving stolen goods (N=700), stealing (N=389), property injuries (N=279), and vehicle theft (N=219).

Figure 5.
Offense Type, 1994 County
Commitments

Seventeen percent of the commitments were for drug offenses. The majority (89%) of these drug offenses were for violation of the Controlled Substance Act with Class A, Class B, or Class D substance (N=2,594).

Thirty-eight percent of all commitments were for offenses in the "other" offense category. Most of these commitments were for motor vehicle violations (N=2,413) and O.U.I. (N=1,887).

Other common offenses in this category were weapons offenses (N=401), disturbing the peace (N=311), and violating a court order or restraining order (N=253).

Sentence. The median sentence length for 1994 commitments was six months. In general, offenders sentenced for less than two months will serve their entire sentence, and offenders sentenced for two months or more will be eligible for parole after half of their sentence is served. Eight percent of the commitments (N=1,348) were in lieu of payment of a fine. County sentences range up to two and one-half years, but in a small number of cases, offenders can serve consecutive sentences of two and one half years or less, such that the total length of sentence will be more than two and one half years.

Some sentences are served only on weekends, one percent of all commitments were weekend sentences (N=242).

Offender Characteristics

Age. The age of offenders ranged from 16 years to 81 years. The median age was 28 years. There were 2,173 offenders (13 percent) 20 years or younger and 38 (less than one percent) age 65 or older.

Sex. Of the 17,329 commitments to county facilities, there were 747 females and 16,582 males. Most females that received a county sentence were sent to MCI-Framingham, the state correctional facility for female offenders.

Race/Ethnicity. The majority of offenders were Caucasian (60 percent). Twenty-one percent were African American and 17 percent were Hispanic. There were 127 individuals (one percent) in other racial groups.

Marital Status. Most offenders were single (74 percent). Fourteen percent were married at the time of commitment and 12 percent were separated, divorced or widowed.

Education. The median educational level was 12th grade. Eight percent had only a grade school education (first through eighth grade), 39 percent completed some high school and 41 percent were high school graduates with no further formal education. Nine percent had some college education and 2 percent reported having a college degree.

Place of Birth. Sixty-six percent of all county commitments were born in Massachusetts, 19 percent were born in other states, 9 percent were born in U.S. territories and 6 percent were foreign-born.

Residence. As reported by the counties, all but 438 offenders committed to county facilities were residing in Massachusetts at the time of commitment. In most cases, the offenders were residing in the same county as the facility to which they were committed.

The average 1994 County Commitment was a twenty-eight year old single, caucasian male with a twelfth grade education, who was born and resides in Massachusetts.
